GEOTECHNICAL TESTING AND OBSERVATIONS SERVICES

GILMAN DRIVE REALIGNMENT FD&C PROJECT NO. 4912

PROPOSALS DUE
TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 2015, 4:00 P.M.

ISSUE DATE –August 21, 2015

The Gilman Drive Realignment project which reconfigures and widens Gilman Drive from Via La Jolla east and north towards Voigt Drive, provides a new four-way signalized intersection to improve campus circulation and will facilitate a future connection to the upcoming Gilman Bridge project. The scope of work includes site work, roadway construction, signalized intersection, parking lots, retaining walls, storm drainage system, 12kV, electrical, telecommunications, domestic and reclaimed water and landscaping. Final utility and road tie-in at future Gilman Bridge by Caltrans at future date estimated at one month concludes the project.

The selected firm will provide geotechnical testing and observations services during earthwork and retaining wall construction for the planned Gilman Drive roadway improvement at the University of California, San Diego installed by the University's contractor as required by applicable state building codes. Services will be required starting as early as October, 2015 and will continue through February, 2017. The services provided will be sufficient to determine if the geotechnical aspect of the earthwork and retaining wall construction are conducted in general accordance with the approved drawings, specifications and recommendation provided in our geotechnical report.

The complete scope of work is delineated in the project plans and specifications. Respondents are to provide an estimate for material testing and inspection services based upon the schedule, plans and specifications referenced and current prevailing wage criteria. To access the Construction Documents (structural plans and specifications), project schedule and a draft copy of the Professional Services Agreement, please use the following link: <http://intranet.fdc.ucsd.edu/downloads/4912RFQ.zip>
